Philosophy

We, at Manaret Heliopolis International School, view linguistic diversity at our school as a rich resource for achieving the ideals of intercultural understanding and international mindedness. We believe that the maintenance and development of mother tongue is crucial to cognitive development and maintaining cultural identity. Language is central to inquiry, communication and self-expression in every area of the curriculum and all aspects of life. Thus, the development of language is viewed as a shared responsibility of all members of our learning community

MHIS Language profile

- MHIS is a dual lingual school where both English and Arabic are the languages of instruction
- Students learn Arabic and English starting the age of 3.
- An additional language is introduced to the students at the age of 6.
- MHIS acknowledges the importance of the mother tongue for developing the student's cognitive development, self-identity and acquiring other languages, as well.
- Acquiring additional languages enriches personal abilities and promotes for internationally minded students.
- The aim of the language policy is to develop bilingual students who are able to communicate effectively, both orally and in writing.
- Since we believe that language is essential to all learning, therefore all teachers at MHIS are language teachers.
- Our goal is to:

Learn the language, as students use it to communicate.

Learn about language, as students develop an understanding of how it works.

Learn through language, as students use it as a tool to understand, think, and reflect.

Principles and Practices of Teaching Language

In order to develop fluent communicators, we believe that:

- English language teaching integrates and develops language skills in reading, writing, viewing, and presenting, listening and speaking.
- The Assessed curriculum, which is concerned with the assessment of the actual learning that takes place for each student, happens in the form of formative and summative assessments at different stages of the unit.
- Since Arabic is the official language of the country, all the written, taught and the assessed curriculum of the Arabic language are set, monitored and supervised by the Ministry of Education, starting PYP5 till MYP5 to ensure they are meeting the MOE requirements.
- Teachers apply Differentiation as a central element of language teaching and learning. Teaching and assessments are thoughtfully applied to suit individual needs, abilities and learning styles.
- New applicants are assessed for their language competency through reviewing previous reports, observation, entry assessments and interviews.
- The school's Support Unit is aimed at supporting students with specific learning needs, referring to various assessment outcomes as an indicator.
- The support unit highlights areas for improvement, designs an action plan, and sets a schedule for meeting with the student on one to one basis. Ongoing assessments are designed to track student's development over time.
- Along with language differentiation within the classroom, MHIS provides a Guided Reading Program which addresses reading skills, strategies and conceptual understandings necessary to become competent, motivated and independent readers.
